Meet the Doctors:

GLENN BRIGDEN, DVM, DAVDC

Board Certified Veterinary Dentist™

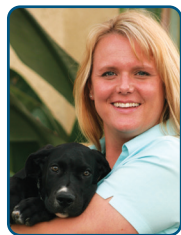

Dr. Glenn Brigden is a board certified veterinary dentist. He graduated from Kansas State University Veterinary School in 2003 and practiced general medicine for a year in McLean, Virginia.

He then completed a rigorous three year veterinary dental residency at the Animal Dental Center in Baltimore, Maryland. Moving west in 2007, he joined the team at Arizona Veterinary Dental Specialists, working on small animals and exotic animals at the Phoenix Zoo. In 2009, Dr. Brigden became a diplomate of the American Veterinary Dental College. Along with the AVDC, he is also a member of the Veterinary Dental Society and has co-authored a chapter in the Veterinary Clinics of North America edition of Clinical Veterinary Dentistry in May of 2013. Although Dr. Brigden enjoys and is skilled at all aspects of dentistry, he has a special interest in oral surgery, including jaw fracture repair and oral oncology cases.

ALLISON WOODY, DVM, DAVDC

Board Certified Veterinary Dentist™

Dr. Allison Woody joined Pacific Coast Veterinary Dentistry & Oral Surgery in January 2018. She earned her veterinary degree from Colorado State University in 1999 and worked in both general practice and shelter medicine for 11 years before pursuing her specialty boards in veterinary dentistry and oral surgery. Dr. Woody is a member of the Foundation for Veterinary Dentistry, sits on the American Veterinary Dental College exam committee, is a published author, and has lectured at local and national conferences

When not at our office, Dr. Woody provides advanced dental care to dogs and cats in need for San Diego County animal shelters. She is also a consulting Veterinary Dentist for the San Diego Zoo Wildlife Alliance, Lions Tigers and Bears sanctuary, and the National Marine Mammal Foundation. Dr. Woody is an active member of the The Colyer Institute and travels with their large mammal dental team. The unique group provides dental care for elephants, rhinos, walrus, and other megavertebrates around the world.

A Board Certified Veterinary Dentist™ and Board Certified Equine Veterinary Dentist™ are titles reserved only for veterinarians who have successfully completed residency training through the AVDC and passed the AVDC's certifying examinations.

These dental specialists, called diplomates, are uniquely qualified to perform advanced dentistry and oral surgery for patients, teach in veterinary schools, and provide continuing education in dentistry to veterinarians in general practice.
